Words From Home

Statements That May Be Investigated
Testimony of a Norway Citizen.

When a Norway citizen comes to the front, telling his friends and neighbors of his experience, you may rely on his sincerity. The statements of people residing in far away places do not command your confidence. Home endorsement is the kind that backs Doan's Kidney Pills. Such testimony is convincing. Investigation proves it true. Below is a statement of a Norway resident. No stronger proof of merit can be had.

"The public statement I gave praising Doan's Kidney Pills several years ago, was right in every particular," says S. C. Foster, barber, of Main St., Norway. "I used this remedy, getting it at Stone's Drug Store and I am glad to say that it is the best one on the market. Sometimes when I take cold it settles on my kidneys, but a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills give me relief."

Price 50c, at all dealers. 'Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Foster had, Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

WEST PARIS.

Another Veteran Has Gone. Wellington Wright Dunham died at his late home early Saturday morning. He was taken sick Thursday, Dec. 10th, but did not take his bed until Friday forenoon, and that night it was pronounced pneumonia.

Everything was done that could be done. A trained nurse came Saturday forenoon, and after two or three days Dr. Williams of Auburn was called for consultation, then another nurse was installed, but all to no avail. Thursday night it was feared that he could not live. Friday these fears were confirmed and that night, at 12:30 Saturday morning he passed beyond this life to that of another where pain and sorrow are not known.

Mr. Dunham was the youngest son of Sylvanus and Esther Benson and was born in North Paris, Feb. 12, 1843. He received his education in the common schools, and enlisted in the Civil War, Co. F, 9th Maine regiment, when only 18 years of age, where he served his country for three years.

On his return he took up farming with his parents and cared for them in their declining years. He was married to Jan. 1, 1868, he married Columbia Bradford of North Paris and they lived there till about six years ago he retired from such extensive farming and bought the J. W. Kimball residence on Main street in this village.

At the age of 53 he became a christian and with his wife joined a Baptist church at North Paris, where he has remained an active member and worker holding the office of deacon until his death. After their removal to their West Paris home they attended the Free Baptist church, going to North Paris occasionally on church occasions and he, health permitted. They had no children of their own, but they took Carrie Rice, now the wife of postmaster T. R. Flavin, when she was but a small child, who with her family are left to mourn the loss of a very dear father and grandfather.

Mr. Dunham had the care of his youngest sister, Mrs. Ann Rowell, which was the last request of his mother, and except the few years of her married life he has done this. She with her son Alton survive him.

Mr. Dunham was a devoted husband, a kind and obliging neighbor, and an ardent lover of flowers and nature. He enjoyed his occupation and was always busy. He had a happy and jovial disposition.

Besides his wife and others already mentioned he leaves one brother, Samuel W. Dunham, who in feeble health will miss the companionship of "Uncle Sam," also another sister, Mrs. Emily Chandler of Sumner, and a number of nephews. He was a member of the Barrows Post G. A. R. of Sumner, and also a member of West Paris Grange.

In earlier life he had been a member of both the I. O. O. F. and F. & A. M., but had not kept up with them. The funeral was held Monday at 1:30 p. m., at his late residence. Rev. L. V. Raymond read portions of the 21st chapter of Revelations, drawing therefrom comforting words. Dana A. Grover sang a solo, "Come unto Me," in his clear mellow baritone voice that was very much appreciated. The casket was arranged as though upon a large couch that was draped with the big flag, and on the top at the ends and on one side were covered with beautiful flowers, and he looked as though he was lying upon a couch of flowers. Two old soldiers and two near neighbors acted as pall bearers. Interment was in the family lot in North Paris cemetery.

The Tom Thumb Wedding entertainment given under the auspices of the T. P. C. U. was very successful and in every way. Eleanor B. MacGregor of Portland, who is a well known musician and director of amateur plays. Those who took part in the wedding were as follows:

Groom.....Hooper Jackson
Bride.....Leona Marston
Best man.....George Gardner
Maid of honor.....Bertha Perry
Bridesmaids.....Margaret Bacon, Marjorie Farr, Beatrice Davis, Juanita Dinwiddie, Harold Buck, Flower girls.....Ola Kimball, Doris Marston, Ring bearer.....Harold Buck
Ushers.....Leo Lyons, Gerald Day, Charles Tamin, Stanley Perham, Edward Smith, Mother of bride.....Beatrice Smith
Father of bride.....Edward Smith
Mother of groom.....Lela Day
Father of groom.....Simeon Farr
Guests.....Ella Tamin, Vivian Buck, Leona Marston, Donald Penley, Arline Porter, Edward Penley, Edith Stetson, Annie Curtis, Frank Curtis, Calista Curtis, Fred Curtis, Lora Porter, Robert Penley, Billy Roderick, Martha Day.

The specialties were piano and vocal solos by Alice Barden, readings by Clyde Hebbard, three character songs by Leo Lyons and a piano-duet by Ora and Doris Field. Much praise was given Master Lyons. He is barely nine years old and has been singing in public ever since before he was three years old. He has a good clear enunciation and the voice of an adult with real vaudeville style.

Through the invitation from the Methodist Sunday School the Free Baptist Sunday School will unite with them for the Christmas entertainment which will be held Thursday evening in the Baptist church. There will be Christmas trees which will be free to the public and old and young alike are invited to come and bring their presents for their friends and little ones. There will be chorus music and exercises by the children, illustrated songs, tableaux and slide pictures of the nativity.

Ella Z. Berry has disposed of all her farm animals and perishable stuff, and had the hay pressed and the grain threshed and moved over here to make her home with her brother Edward. She has been sick with a throat trouble and cold but she is better so she is able to be out some. Her sister Clara, who came home from her school is also with her brother during the holiday vacation.

H. Farrar recently received a post card shower from the residents of Northward Rebekeh Lodge and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Coburn and daughter Helen have returned to their home here after two or more months absence. Mr. Coburn is working in the Pike Pole Manufacturing Co. for Clarence L. Ridlon.

Edgar Whitman recently visited at James Curtis'.

EAST WATERFORD. H. O. Rolfe and P. L. Davis have been in Boston on business.

The engine for the new mill arrived here, Monday night.

John Evans is at work for H. O. Rolfe. There will be a dinner in the school-house on Dec. 30th.

Annie McAllister and John Evans were in Lovell when the auto broke down, so they came home the next day with a team.

School is closed for three weeks. George Gray and wife were in Norway on business, Saturday.

HARRISON.

Arthur E. Herson.
After several weeks' sickness, Arthur E. Herson of Moultrie street, Dorchester, Mass., passed away Dec. 3, at his home. Funeral services were held at the chapel of Woodlawn cemetery, Everett, conducted by Rev. R. Perry Bush of Chelsea and the Odd Fellows' ritual service was given by Franklin lodge of Dorchester, Walter G. Crowther, P. G., a personal friend of the deceased, officiating. Noble Grand and John C. Ham, P. G., as chaplain. Over two hundred and fifty friends and fraternal associates were present and with floral pieces displayed showed with what esteem Mr. Herson was held.

He was for 26 years secretary of Franklin lodge, I. O. O. F., and treasurer of Tri Mount Encampment, I. O. O. F. Algonquin lodge, A. F. & A. M., of Dorchester, having united as a charter member, transferring from Temple lodge of East Boston. He was also a member of St. Paul's Chapter and De Molay Commandery, K. T. He was a past warden of Hercules lodge, N. E. O. P., a member of Star Council, R. A., treasurer of the T. Wharf Relief association and a member of Trinity lodge, Knights and Ladies.

For over thirty years he was bookkeeper of John R. Neal & Co. of T. Wharf and when merged with the Booth Fisheries Co. in 1911, remained as chief bookkeeper and was held in high respect by his associates and by the members of the firm.

He leaves a widow, nee Emma Frances LeBaron, born in Harrison, and grand-daughter of the late deacon Lewis Smith, her mother being the eldest daughter, sister of Lewis and Aaron. She married William Frederick LeBaron, who owned and lived in the house now owned by Daniel Caswell of Texas and used by him as a summer home. Mrs. Herson having been born in this house. FRYEBURG.

Golden Wedding.
Mr. and Mrs. William Gordon observed the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding, Saturday. They were intending to pass the day quietly, but their daughters and neighbors decided it was an event of interest.

The surprise party dropped in, bearing gifts and lots of good will. Many remembrances from absent friends marked the notable day, while from a group of village neighbors came a Bohemian glass dish and a real gold thimble to the bride and groom, and to the popular bridegroom, a cane, encircled by a heavy gold band.

William Gordon is one of the famous Gordon twins, his brother, Samuel Gordon being two minutes younger. They were born in Fryeburg about 32 years ago and have spent their lives in this town, taking a hand in all of its affairs and filling many important positions. It has never been questioned that they are the oldest and brightest twins in America, if not in the whole world, being as hale and hearty at 82 years as most men are at 60.

The father, Stephen Gordon, through three Henrys, was a direct descendant of the famous Gordon clan in Scotland. Dr. Seth C. Gordon, the noted surgeon of Portland, is a brother.

William Gordon is a great reader and an authority on the history of his town and State. The clear head and keen wits of his Scotch ancestry have descended to his younger days and no apple parin' or huskin' was complete without him and he often led the dance with pretty Julia Anderson of Chatham, N. H., who later became his wife.

As an auctioneer he is famous in the country around, having been at it since '56. He has been a surveyor many years and in his 77th year worked out-of-doors all winter in all kinds of weather. The diary which he has faithfully kept for over 50 years is full of valuable material, and will be of inestimable value in the history of the town.

Julia Anderson grew into a charming woman, beloved by all, interested in all village affairs, a kind neighbor, a good housekeeper, presiding over a happy home. Mrs. Gordon, too, descended from the famous Scotch Anderson clan.

Two of the three daughters were present, Mrs. Fanny Waterman who lives with her parents, and Mrs. Molly Billings of Massachusetts, also Margery Billings, the granddaughter. The other daughter, Arvilla Pingree, resides in New Hampshire.

S. W. Fife is still confined to the house. His sister, Sarah Stevens, is caring for him.

Mrs. John Phillips is still confined to the house.

John Ward has been ill the past week.

One of the busiest men in town is our express man, D. Clement Towle. He makes several trips daily between trains and is one of the best men that has ever handled the express.

Our genial mail carrier, Joseph Wiley, needs an assistant these days, as Christmas has and a mail post is so much of a business that he seems over taxed—still he has a "smile that won't come off."

Mrs. C. W. Pike and daughter Lillian went to Boston, Saturday.

Mrs. Marsh and family returned to their home in New Bedford, after the Academy closed.

Grover Post and Grover Circle, G. A. R., are to have a joint installation of officers, Tuesday, Jan. 5th, at Red Men's Hall. All friends invited.

All of the stores are attractively decorated for the holidays.

Wm. Leavitt gave his friends a surprise last week by getting married without announcing the engagement. Mrs. Edward Sargent was his bride. Their friends extend congratulations.

Carrie Johnson is visiting her father, Joseph Johnson.

Walter Bickford of Brownfield was in Fryeburg, Friday, on business.

Hattie Pike is in Boston for a few days.

Mrs. M. B. Barker is boarding with Mrs. Blanche Fogg.

Fannie Tibbetts has closed her school and is also boarding with Mrs. Page.

It looks as though there would be very little work in the piano factory this winter.

Mrs. Franklin Albee of Littleton, N. H., will spend the winter at the Weston homestead in Fryeburg, where she is the guest of her son-in-law, George W. Weston.

Her grandson, John Franklin Weston, who has been spending some time with his aunt, Mrs. C. E. Jones, in East Orange, N. J., has returned home.

THE BLUE DEVILS

OF INDIGESTION

Are put to rout by Dys-pep-tics, the simple effective, digestive tablets, oval, sugar-coated, prepared by C. I. Hood Co., Lowell, Mass.

They give the most gratifying relief in sour stomach, distress after eating, belching, nausea, heartburn, etc. Perfectly safe, perfectly reliable, perfectly free from narcotics. One or two crushed in the mouth and swallowed slowly—that's all. You'll not think of your stomach again. Try them. Ten or twenty-five cents or a dollar.

Gasoline Power Bug Killers.

Geo. A

DO YOU SUFFER FROM BACKACHE?

When your kidneys are weak and torpid they do not properly perform their functions. Your back aches and you do not feel like doing much of anything. You are likely to be despondent and to borrow trouble, just as if you hadn't enough already. Don't be a victim any longer. The old reliable medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla, gives strength and tone to the kidneys and builds up the whole system. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar combination of roots, barks and herbs. No other medicine acts like it, because no other medicine has the same formula or ingredients. Accept no substitute, but insist on having Hood's, and get it today.

Interesting Legislative Session.

The Maine legislature will be seated next month under conditions never before encountered in Maine law-making. In the Senate the Republicans have a clean plurality of 8; in the House the Democrats have a small plurality, the Republicans a threatening minority, and the Progressives an annoying handful. On joint ballot the Democrats apparently will have 91, the Republicans 87, and the Progressives 4. The organization of the two branches will be interesting to follow, the deliberations and voting of the joint sessions will be intensely interesting and some of the battles of the session will without doubt be very spectacular.

In order to follow the history of this legislature you should have a daily copy of the newspaper which is best equipped and located to cover this big piece of Maine news every day. The Kennebec Journal has a staff which in editorial talent and reportorial efficiency is unequalled in Maine, and it is especially well equipped in every detail to cover the legislative news.

This winter the Kennebec Journal will turn the best men on its staff to the business of reporting and interpreting the movements of the legislative session, and the paper will bring out in detail the meaning of every movement of importance.

Advance notices of all the committee hearings are published in the Journal, a matter of great importance to those who are watching new legislation. The Journal also publishes at the opening of the session biographical sketches of the members of the legislature, accompanied by portraits.

The price of the Daily Kennebec Journal will be $1.25 for the session. Address: Kennebec Journal Company, Augusta, Maine.

PE-RU-NA

Peruna is not a new and untried remedy—our grandfathers used it. Fifty years ago it was on sale, nearly every drug store in the country can supply it. It is recognized as a household remedy in thousands of homes for coughs, colds, grip, catarrh and those troubles arising from such disturbances. TODAY IT IS JUST AS EFFECTIVE AS EVER AND NOTHING BETTER HAS BEEN DEvised AS A READY-MADE MEDICINE. Those who object to Liquid Medicine will find Peruna Tablets a desirable remedy for CATARRHAL CONDITIONS. LAXATIVE-TONIC

The First Baldwin Apple Tree.

Dr. G. A. Yeaton is authority for our saying that the first apple tree grafted to Baldwin in this county is in Waterford.

The scion was cut from the original Baldwin tree in Massachusetts and was grafted into a tree that is now on the farm of Dr. H. P. Warren which is located some two miles from North Waterford.

The grafting was done by the grand-father of Dr. Warren, right around a hundred years ago.

The tree bears apples the past season and is likely to live many years to come.

NORTH WATERFORD.

Laid to Rest. Died at her home in this place, Fay Stanley, wife of Walter A. Lord, aged 30 years.

The whole community mourn with the young husband and little children of the young wife and mother, whose death came so unexpectedly to us all. She was a loving wife and mother and had endeared herself to all of her friends and neighbors.

She and her husband were to celebrate their 13th anniversary the next day. Thanksgiving, her birthday, and her husband's and baby's, and their wedding anniversary were all in the same month. She was the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bickford of East Stoneham.

Mrs. Bickford, her mother, was in Salem, Mass., caring for another daughter, Mrs. Weston Woodbury, who was critically ill at the time of her daughter's death, when she received the telegram.

Beside her husband she also leaves seven little children, the oldest twelve, and the youngest two weeks; a father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bickford; two sisters, Mrs. William Rice of North Waterford and Mrs. Weston Woodbury of Salem, Mass.; and one brother, Curtis Bickford of East Stoneham, beside many other relatives and friends, who bitterly mourn their loss.

She was laid at rest in East Stoneham cemetery, near her parental home. She looked as though she was asleep, it was impossible to think otherwise, as she lay in her snowy white couch casket, with the beautiful flowers around her. It was a picture to remember forever, of the fair young face framed in its wealth of midnight hair. The flowers were many and beautiful. Her many relatives each contributed costly pieces, and many friends brought them for miles around.

EAST WATERFORD.

Representative Elect. Leslie E. McIntire of East Waterford is representative-elect from his class towns, and one of the Democrats of the Oxford county delegation.

Mr. McIntire is known all over the State for his connection with the agricultural interests and has made a study of the live stock and dairy industries and conditions. He has been president of the Maine Dairyman's Association, also of the Maine Live Stock Breeder's Association and is considered an authority in the State.

He is one of the most prominent citizens of his town and has served three years on the board of selectmen and in other positions of honor and responsibility.

Although this is his first session in the legislature he will be heard from. He is a believer in Maine and Maine's agricultural resources and his voice and vote will be strong along those lines.

He is a farmer, a member of the Grange, of course, and also an Odd Fellow.

PAST OXFORD.

Mrs. C. S. Noble visited her brother, Herbert Andrews, in Lewiston over Sunday.

Mrs. Maria Porter is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Flood. Mr. and Mrs. Flood plan to spend Christmas day with their sons at Bath.

B. M. Greely put in his ice last week, beginning the 17th. He has 400 cakes. It is 12 to 14 inches thick and clear as crystal.

Chester Witham was lucky in getting a nice deer, a buck six of seven years old. He shot him the last day of grace, before the law went on, and about 15 minutes before it was dark.

John Ramsey and Matti Komulaine secured a small deer, a yearling, recently.

Mrs. Julia, widow of the late Newell Thomas, died Sunday, Dec. 20, at 2 o'clock p. m. She had been an invalid for a number of years and for a long time has been confined to her bed. Services were held at her late home, Tuesday at eleven o'clock.

RAMBLING THOUGHTS.

Bear Girls and Boys or even young Men and Women—Mark the young man who is coarse and disrespectful to his mother. We owe to our mothers, gentleness, kindness, tenderness and consideration. There is no rank, no station, no condition that may exempt a manly man from a kind regard for his mother.

One of our school mottoes was "Idle-ness is Crime."

Now Christmas is so near how many girls and boys will help some poor, neglected child or family and so give them cheer and happiness, if it be only a smile and word.

A smile, a word, a loving look, Has power we scarce can see; So smile on all and if you speak, O speak kind words to me. I'd have them know that Jesus Came on this blessed day, The richest earthly gift, The Life, the Truth, the Way.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS.

(Filed with the Several Town Clerks).
Orin P. Sills and Ada Elwell, both of Norway.

BORN NOT MADE.

To be a milliner—it is a business that requires infinite tact, infinite skill, infinite resource, in fact absolute genius. To misquote the poet: "Milliners are born or not made." At least so they tell us in the millinery shops.

It doesn't seem possible, does it, that all these virtues were put together to produce your winter hat and mine? Yet so it is. And the marvel calls forth that inevitable: "Why?"

Let me answer your question for you. "Can you put the trimming on your own hat with the same cleverness which the milliner uses in arranging it? Do your fingers possess the same cunning in folding satin and laying bows? Then should you ever become a milliner you would be a made milliner and not a born one."

Even so, however, the true test of millinery genius is not the creation of new models, but the reconstruction of old ones. "Given a heap of beautiful and costly new materials," say the milliners, and the veriest apprentice at the art can construct a hat of least respectability. That is art. But to take a heap of old, worn, and unattractive stuffs and give them new life and vigor, evolve from them a jaunty and stylish piece of head-gear—that is genius.

If one is a born milliner, if one has the divine knack (for no other word presses it half so well) there is no more fascinating trade. There is a pleasure in handling the dainty and beautiful things, the soft silks and satins and velvets, that gratifies the feminine taste. The world of millinery seems in very truth a feminine kingdom.

And yet there is a side that does not seem so pleasing. The masterpiece of velvet and silk, of lace and flowers, means not alone the finished creation, but the busy hours in the workshop. It means the handling of wire and cambric and crinoline as well as the more ornamental stuffs. That is the part of which the would-be milliner seldom stops to think.

And there is one serious mistake which girls make when they take up the vocation of a milliner. They expect to learn everything at once. Six weeks in the fall, six weeks in the spring complete their apprenticeship. They expect to be treated as full-fledged milliners. And yet in Paris, the mecca of beautiful, elaborate and ornate millinery, it requires three years to become master of the sumptuousness of the Paris milliner who has completed her apprenticeship never lacks for employment, whereas the girl who has worked twelve weeks is often too inefficient to make her services of much value, that is unless she is one of those geniuses of which we have a few.

But the born milliner, for her there is always a place. She may labor for a few paltry weeks in the spring, for a few more in the fall, and live in clover for the rest of the year upon the sum which she has earned in those three or four months. Who could plan a more enjoyable and more comfortable and inviting existence?

For the born, but not for the manufactured milliner, life may be made easy and delightful. And then there are the little excursions to New York or Boston for the milliner in the smaller cities, the inspection of New York's millinery palaces, and the purchase of their beautiful creations which are to astonish the eyes of the local customers, that is another delight.

But there are downs as well as ups in the milliner's existence. "Tact is their most valuable asset," says the milliner. It is a peculiarity of customers, so the exasperated milliner sometimes thinks, to wish to wear exactly the thing which is least becoming. They must be skillfully turned from this stubborn bent, and persuaded to assume the more becoming headgear—and all without conveying to the purchaser the idea that the older trimmings might not be also of use.

"Of course a good milliner can make money anywhere," this is the testimony of experts, "but excellent milliners (I use a slang phrase) do not grow upon every bush."

"BEATING TIME."

Only Way is to Retain Optimism and Altruism of Youth.

The writer once saw an amusing picture in a magazine. It represented a woman, standing before a mirror, rousing brush in hand, adding roses to her cheeks, and it was entitled "Beating Time." That is the great trouble with most men and women who have passed the halfway house in the journey of life. They try to retain youth by vainly putting up the outside, putting repairs where the casual eye beholds rather than reconstructing the bodily interior and rebuilding mental foundations. They borrow color from the rouge brush, exhilaration from the stimulants, and vivacity from the tango, perhaps, while the striking ghost of lost youth that gives them dead away is their irritability.

Young people, genuinely young people, possess a sunniness of spirit that endows them with exceedingly lovable qualities, of which patience is one most to be desired. Youth may have occasional brainstorms of wrath or hysterics, but, on the whole, the young are sweetly equable, entrancingly hopeful and wonderfully patient. They have a delightful way of refusing to take things tragically. The young are generally unimpressed upon, frequently deceived, seldom praised in proportion to their efforts (and occasionally their deserts), but the Angel of patience stands ever at their right hand and they do not make themselves nor others miserable by irritable tempers.

A Biblical proverb tells us: "He that is slow-to anger is better than the mighty, and he that ruleth his spirit than he that taketh a city," both similes indicating that control of temper is indicative of increasing rather than decreasing strength.

The "variability of old age," what is that but pensive disclosing weakness? Old people feel unequal to things. Youth feels so strong, so capable, so glad and assured it will tackle the seemingly impossible—and find it possible. Youth is the fool that rushes in, and wins, where angels (and the aged) fear to tread.

Hence the only successful way to beat time is by holding fast to the altruistic outlook and the pleasant qualities of youth. Build up the health with patience, revive faith in men and angels and look upon life with eyes of hope and love.

OXFORD COUNTY MEN WHO HAVE BECOME NOTED.

Oxford county has and has had more noted men than any other county in the State.

For a third of a century the Norway Advertiser has been telling each week of our local noted people and they have been by no means exhausted. "Like Topsy" they grow." This article is limited to a few of the many.

The five most noted men, Joseph Stevens, Jeremiah Hobbs, Amos Hobbs and George Lesley, who came from Gray in 1786 and felled trees and started a town, the town of Norway, in the wilderness should be counted as noted.

Isaac Lemuel, Jr., and perhaps Levi Jackson, sons of Lemuel Jackson of Middleborough, Mass., felled trees in Paris in view to settlement in 1779, also about that time John Daniels felled trees here. Lemuel Jackson and John Willis of Middleborough, Mass., had bought rights for settlement. On Dec. 24, 1779 and 1780 or 1781 they came by the way of New Gloucester to burn the trees and try for a crop of corn.

Joseph Stevens built a small frame house early in the spring of 1787, 16x20 feet. He split out pine raft clapboards and clapboarded the sides, and shingled the roof, built a stone fireplace high enough on which to lay a wooden mouth-piece, and after a short time topped out the chimney by what used to be called catting—that is, by laying split sticks, cob-house fashion, in a mortar, mixed with straw, chopped fine to make it adhere more strongly to the sticks. This house is said to have been located where Charles Boober now lives and it is thought on or very near where his present house is. The others built houses of similar kind, and structure not far from there, one on the Doughty farm, one on the Grover farm and one near the Center church.

Samuel Ames built the first shelter or camp in what is now Norway village to be used while building the mill. It was built by putting down in the ground three posts of a proper height and cutting off a birch tree of the same height for the fourth post. These he covered with bark. The mill was on the same site as the mill at the upper part of the village.

Dan, six weeks in the spring complete their apprenticeship. They expect to be treated as full-fledged milliners. And yet in Paris, the mecca of beautiful, elaborate and ornate millinery, it requires three years to become master of the sumptuousness of the Paris milliner who has completed her apprenticeship never lacks for employment, whereas the girl who has worked twelve weeks is often too inefficient to make her services of much value, that is unless she is one of those geniuses of which we have a few.

ing of the dams was started. From one of the smallest towns in the number of inhabitants in the County it has become the largest.

William Wirt Virgin was born in Ramfjord, the son of a lawyer, Peter C. Virgin. After graduating from Bowdoin College he studied law with his father, was admitted to the Oxford Bar and settled in Norway where he practiced law for twenty-three years. He was president of the State Senate in 1866. While at Norway he was leader of the band, Captain of the Light Infantry, prominent in organizing the village corporation and the first fire company. When the Civil War broke out he was one of the Major-Generals of the Maine Militia and assisted in organizing the first Maine regiment for service in the field.

In 1872 he was appointed by Gov. Perham of Woodstock an associate justice of the Supreme Judicial Court.

The noted painters, Cyrus and Darius Cobb of Boston were Norway boys. They were tried and on July 1, 1871, they married twin sisters, Emma and Laura Lillie.

C. B. Cummings, whom we all know, was not only noted for the business and manufacturing interests he carried on in Norway, the employment he gave to his poor people, the honest and spry jokes on the village, but was more noted for the fact that he held his children with him and after his death they are still content to carry on and extend and improve the business founded by their father. It is rarely that children want to continue the same way their fathers do on the commercial highway.

Prof. Sidney Smith after his graduation from Yale, was retained several years in the college as an assistant. In 1871 he was elected State Entomologist, then Professor of Comparative Anatomy in 1876. He pursued his investigations of the crustacea of Lake Superior under the directions of the United States Lake Survey. He is a member of the National Academy of Science. In his special work, carcinology, he has few if any superior in the country.

Samuel Lincoln Fryeburg and Paris was the third Governor of Maine. He was re-elected twice and in 1829 declined a re-election. From 1819 to 1826 he was in Congress. He began a work on the History and Resources of Maine which he intended to make exhaustive of these subjects. He died the early part of 1830, at the age of 41 years. His remains repose in a tomb erected on the State domain in front of the Capitol at Augusta.

Prof. William Edward Sargent, principal of Hebron Academy, was called there in 1885. He has stuck to the school for 30 years and is still at his head. He has made of Hebron Academy one of the best schools of its kind in the State and by his work he is known as one of Maine's best educators. A man who is strong enough to stay right in one school and leave his imprint for good on the lives of numbers of young people that he has assisted educationally is an unusual man. This school was "founded by praying patriots of the Revolution."

Gen. Wm. K. Kimball of Ramfjord, Dixfield and Paris was brevetted Brigadier General for meritorious service. Fred E. Boothby, the popular General Passenger and ticket agent of the Maine Central Railroad Company for many years, was born in Norway, but when quite young his father moved to South Paris.

Probably no son of Paris has been more successful in business than William Deering, the head of the great Deering machinery company. Of these machines they manufacture more largely than any other firm in the world. As a young man he was clerk five years of the Paris Manufacturing Co., and after that was agent for the firm for eleven years he was in trade in South Paris.

Prof. Addison E. Verrill was born in Greenwood and afterward when a boy lived in Norway, where he had the advantages of an Academic course of study. He became a pupil of Prof. Agassiz when 19 years of age. He was in a few years appointed Professor of Zoology in Harvard College, a distinguished honor for one of his years, also curator of the Peabody Museum. He was afterwards appointed Professor of Zoology in Yale College, and as a scientist has an enviable reputation not only in this country, but in other countries. His scope embraces almost every department of Natural History including Zoology, Botany, Geology and Mineralogy. He was connected with the United States Fish Commission in charge of the dredging for deep sea fauna. He became proficient in the French and German languages and adept in fine drawing so essential to the accurate study of Conchology.

Hon. Hannibal Hamlin was born in Paris, Aug. 27th, 1809. He, in company with Horatio King, bought and published the Jeffersonian, a newspaper, in Paris Hill. He served in Maine Legislature and in the United States Senate as Governor of Maine but is best remembered as Vice President with Abraham Lincoln as President, from March 4, 1849 to March 4, 1850, of the period of the Civil War. Perhaps it is not generally known that when a boy Hannibal Hamlin brought wood and yester, swept floors and washed rollers in the office of our Norway paper. It was in this office he was introduced to "type lice" and he and Horatio King gave the office a thrashing and dubbed his face with printers' ink. This was years before Mr. King became Postmaster General for all this country.

In 1800 the militia was organized in Norway—Jonathan Cummings, Captain; Anthony Bennett, Lieutenant; William Reed, ensign. This Company was organized under the militia laws of Massachusetts. Norway has had a Company ever since.

Jonathan Cummings was proprietor of Cummings Gore. This was a tract of 3,450 acres that the proprietor had left out by mistake and extended north from Hobbs Pond, now called, between Lee's Grant on the east, and Waterford three tiers on the west.

James Kettle was the first trader of Norway and kept his goods in one room in the Edmunds house, now owned by Sylvanus Cobb, Jr., whose writings largely made the New York Ledger the successful story paper it was, and helped make the immense fortune of the Ledger's proprietor, Robert Bonner, was a Norway man and did some of his best Norway work in Norway. The Norwegians were he lived in the village are still pointed out because he once lived in them.

David Noyes, the Norway historian, did better work than he knew when he wrote the old Norway history. This book was written by a Norway resident, on paper made in Norway, and printed in the Norway printing office, and bound by Norway book binders, Noyes & Beal. It was a great help in compiling the Norway Lapham history of 1886. Incidentally it might be added that since 1882 the local paper has preserved a history of the every day life of the town.

In 1852 the files of the local paper were destroyed in the fire that burned the office and other buildings—an irreparable loss. Charles Porter Kimball, who became owner of an immense carriage factory in Chicago, started the business in Norway, where his father's family lived. In 1855 he was appointed by President Cleveland, United States Consul at Stuttgart, Germany. A brother, Hannibal Kimball, taught school in business in the South. (He was director general of the great International Cotton Exposition held in Atlanta, Ga., in 1881.)

Gen. Benj. B. Murray, son of Rev. B. Murray, was born in Norway. Among other honors he was appointed special agent of the United States Treasury in 1876 and later assistant financial agent in London. He went to London in charge of ten million of United States bonds and assisted in refunding the National debt. During that year he assisted in negotiating the sale of bonds amounting to more than one hundred millions of dollars.

Charles F. Brown of Waterford. His tombstone in this town says, "Known to the world as Artemus Ward," was a compositor in the Advertiser office when his brother, Cyrus W. Brown was editor of the paper. It is here he did the poor people, the honest and spry jokes on his office mates. Perhaps his greatest joke was in his will in which he gave away his health to his various friends. It is well known that after his death in Europe where he was on a lecturing tour, his home friends assisted in furnishing the means to bring his body home. The will is filed among the papers in Oxford Co. Probate Office.

Hon. Sidney Perham of Woodstock was twice elected Governor of Maine. He held other positions of trust. In his early life he was engaged in farming and later in the lumber business, and always with marked success.

Some have the idea that they cannot succeed in their home place, but there are scores of men who have become noted right at home. We might mention the name of Howard D. Smith, that genial man, who has just completed his 40th year as cashier of the Norway National Bank. Sumner Burnham, one of the founders and the first president of the bank. Adna C. Denison, manufacturer of paper at the Falls. By the way, in this old paper mill a German tried out the manufacture of paper from wood pulp, that perfected, has made cheap paper and thus made possible the large amount of reading people enjoy. Stephen Greenleaf, the pioneer cabinet maker of Norway. Ebenzer Pierce Hinds, the first principal of the Norway Liberal Institute. He enlisted in the 7th Maine Infantry. He served about a year when his health failed and he was sent North. When the steamer arrived at its destination he was found dead on the deck. Franklin Manning conducted the Norway Iron foundry under the firm name of Brown & Company. They manufactured castings and farm castings and iron hinges on an extensive scale. They did their freighting by team from Portland. This business was afterwards conducted by Ephraim H. Brown and others up to the time of the war. Dr. Bial F. Bradbury is now giving his services to the wounded through the American National Red Cross in the European War. He is stationed in German Silesia.

Luther Farrar was Norway's first attorney-at-law. The memory of this man comes down to us through the long number of years of good deeds. His successors are Levi Whitman, William A. Evans, Moses B. Bartlett, William Wirt Virgin, Henry Upton, Henry M. Bearce, Charles E. Holt, Charles F. Whitman, Alfred S. Kimball, Seward S. Stearns, J. A. Roberts, E. F. Smith, M. L. Kimball, W. F. Jones, A. E. Stearns, A. J. Stearns, Charles P. Barnes, Dr. Asa Danforth was "pre-eminently the good physician" for many years. He is yet known by name to many of this generation. Probably some of the medical methods of his day would appear obsolete to our excellent, modern doctors. Norway has had thirty-five or more different physicians.

"Jack Soule" as he was known was the first Paris lawyer. History says he was a man of fine promise and brilliant wit, but he ended his career in the poor house—strong drink his ruin. He was followed by lawyers, Nathaniel Howe, Albion K. Parry, Enoch Lincoln, Stephen Emery, Joseph G. Cobb, Levi Stowell, Timothy J. Carter, Rufus K. Goodnow, Charles Andrews, George F. Emery, William K. Kimball, Alvah Cummings, James F. Rawson, Lyman Rawson, George E. Wilson, George M. Davis, James B. Wright, George M. Atwood, Walter L. Gray and Alton C. Wheeler. Well may the town point to them with satisfaction and pride.

Robert F. Bickford's Lapidary for the State of Maine stands out as unique among Norway's able craftsmen. The Oxford Hills, with Norway and South Paris as its center is one of the most highly mineralized sections of the globe. It is wonderful that from these rugged hills may be found precious stones that are unsurpassed. Royal amethysts, the most magnificent crystal in the world, was found in a neighboring town. The largest aqua marine beryl in the world is shown in the Field Museum in Chicago. The caesium beryl and golden beryl is found here and topazes, tourmalines and other local gems. Years back it will be remembered how George R. Howe, president of Maine Academy of Science, and George L. Noyes, painter of mountains, searched for and found gems in their native hills and turning attention to this made it possible for people all over the country to wear our Maine gems; also pearls from fresh water clams in our streams and ponds.

Hugh Dexter has his stories printed in the leading magazines. He is the author of several popular books. Telbot Mundy is also a successful writer. He is especially noted for stories of adventure.

Don C. Seitz, whose name is a household word for pluck, energy, good sense and success, learned the mechanical part of printing of that good man, Simeon Drake, who is, besides being a fine printer, noted because all his sons became doctors and even his daughter's husband a doctor. As we all know, Seitz is business manager of the United States' largest newspaper, The New York World is the local paper of our largest city and fifteen hundred or more men work in its various departments.

The rising generation with the improved schools and educational methods and the rich experiences of the past will doubtless reach heights Oxford County men have here-to-for not dreamed of,—but will surely have to bestir themselves.

BROWNFIELD.

Marston's Mills.
A. A. McIntire and daughter, Mrs. Wilbur Douglass from East Fryeburg were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Smith.

Mabel Rounds, who is teaching at Eaton Center, N. H., is spending her Christmas vacation at home.

Bert Perry is working in C. E. Hill's mill at East Brownfield.

Daniel Smith, while cutting wood for Frank Fessenden, cut one tree that measured when split and piled, 3½ cords.

Mrs. Frank Meserve called to see her mother, Mrs. Lizzie Marston. She was accompanied by her daughter Leah and Mr. Eastman.

SOUTH HARRISON.

A Big Loss.

Fire completely destroyed the pretty farm buildings of Victor Pulkkinen, last Saturday. It caught around the chimney. They lost all their clothing, house furnishings, etc. All live stock was saved, also the farming tools. As there was a strong wind blowing, there was no time to save things in the house. All of the buildings were burned in one-half an hour.

Mr. Pulkkinen bought this farm of Fred Noyes a few years ago. The buildings were built by Nathan Carley. This is a very hard loss for Mr. and Mrs. Pulkkinen as they have three small children and it is the hardest time of the year to be turned out of doors. It was insured.

Ida M. Hilton hurt her eye quite seriously one day last week, but it is much better at this writing.

Everett Fogg, Benj. Leighton and Willie Pulkkinen skated across Long Pond, Friday, Dec. 18th.

Geo. Larabee has been working for Frank Traflet, the past week.

Everett Fogg is spending a few days at his home. He is employed by his uncle, Edward Fogg, who is the manager of the Copley Plaza Hotel in Boston.

Villa Fogg has returned home after a very pleasant trip. She visited her friends, Mr. and Mrs. Courtney York of Westbury, R. I. and her sister, Mrs. Llewellyn Batchelder, of East Holliston, Mass., and friends in Pownal.

Prentiss Fogg of Otisfield spent Sunday at his father's, R. W. Fogg's. Our school closed Friday, Dec. 18th, after a very successful term, taught by Ida M. Hilton of North Bridgton. The children all enjoyed a treat of candy and peanuts the last day. Those who were not absent or tardy during the term were Josiah DeWitt, Lida DeWitt and Helena Burnham. Josephine Flagg missed only one day and that was on account of sickness.

Mrs. John Ojala, who has been very sick with blood poison, is better.

Floris Reed has returned to Eugene Gray's for the winter. Mrs. Reed with two children, Phyllis and Emma, have gone to Windham and Mr. Reed is working for Jas. Thomas.

Glaude Snow of Pownal has been spending a few days at R. W. Fogg's.

Mrs. Mattie Rimpilainen lost quite a lot of things in the fire which destroyed her sister's, Mrs. Victor Pulkkinen's house.

Five or six inches of snow fell, Monday.

Rena Buck came home Saturday from Massachusetts, where she has been teaching school.

Jesse Lewis is peddling meat around here, comes once a week.

Guy Thompson and family were at his father's, Sherman Thompson's, the 13th.

Erma Dewitt is at her grandfather's, Josiah Strout's, on a visit.

Herman Thompson has been working for Jesse Holden, painting, and some other work.

WATERFORD.

Wilson, Mary and James Morse are home for the holidays. Helen Deering of Denmark is a guest at the Morse homestead.

Elsie Heath, N. H. S., '18, is home for the holidays.

Nora McKinney of the Farmington Normal school is spending her vacation at her home here.

Gertrude Hamblen of Bridgton was the guest of Agnes and Carrie Plummer last week.

Melville Coye is home from Winchester, Mass., for the holidays.

Annual election of officers of Mt. Tire Lodge, F. & A. M., Tuesday evening, Dec. 29th.

Keoka Chapter, O. E. S., will hold its annual election, Friday evening, Jan. 1.

Florence Eastman is out of the hospital but will remain with relatives in Portland for a time.

SOUTH ALBANY.

Ernest Grover has returned from Lewiston where he has been on a trip.

Mrs. Wallace Cummings, who has been ill for the last two weeks from the effects of phurisy is some better.

Lucian Jewett was in town, Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brown went to Norway, Saturday. Walter Lord, carried them over in his auto.

One of E. C. Henley's twin boys has been very sick with tonsillitis. He had not entirely recovered from the effect of it in one side when the other side was affected. He is improving now.

Walter Canwell is still under the weather with several more small boils on his neck.

David McAllister and John McAllister with their teams are hauling timber for Will McAllister from his lot to Harry Brown's mill at North Waterford.

Hazel Savin is stopping with her sister, Mrs. Arthur Millett, at Waterford.

Mrs. Hiram Holt and two children were at Meritt Savin's last Thursday.

Mrs. Holt took her two daughters, Ruth and Della, who have been visiting there, home with her. The other daughter, Helen, remained until Sunday, when her father, Hiram Holt, came after her.

Ernest Browne, wife and sister, Mrs. Jennie McAllister, went to Stoneham last week Tuesday to visit their father, Alanzo Browne who is sick.

Etha McAllister of North Waterford visited her sister, Tena McAllister, who is at work at Walter Lord's.
